Repairs to Old Speck tower set

By MICHAEL DANIELS

If all goes as planned, by the end of the month the observation tower on Old Speck Mountain will once again be affording hikers spectacular views of Mt. Washington, the White Mountains, the Baldpates, Umbagog Lake, the Mahoosuc Range and beyond.

Andy Haskell, manager of Grafton Notch State Park, said the state has provided an additional $30,000 in funds from the loon plate, and the money will allow the Bureau of Parks and Recreation to hire a private helicopter to haul materials and volunteer laborers to the site.

The 40-foot tower, formerly a fire tower, was closed by the state in August 1994, because of safety concerns. The 80-year-old structure's wooden platform and railing were rotted, and cross braces and guy wires were broken.

Haskell and a group of volunteers have been trying since 1995 to rebuild the tower, but a helicopter is

AT&T will reach out and change the lights in Greenwood

Libby Sciachittano and her neighbors in Greenwood will get their dark sky back -- compliments of AT&T.

Sciachittano and others have complained the flashing white strobe lights on the company's nearby transmission tower are an annoying intrusion in their living rooms at night.

So AT&T this week will install blinking red lights on the tower. They will not have the penetrating effect the current lights do, according to company officials.

The red lights will operate at night. Then, each morning, an electric eye will switch the system back

CAMP COOKING, LOW-IMPACT STYLE--Boy Scouts from Bethel Troop 565 camped out at the base of Mt. Will this weekend, to lend their support to Bethel's first participation in the five-year-old National Trails Day celebration. As part of their demonstration of low-impact camping, the scouts prepared meals over small propane stoves, rather than over the traditional campfire. Here heating up lunch are (clockwise from left): Adam Tanguay, Timmy Beaudet, Joel Doyon, Jonathan Stevens, and Mark Tanguay. Friday evening's bivouac marked the completion of a full year in which the local scouts have camped out at least once a month. Other events at Mt. Will Saturday included nature walks, scavenger hunt and river-boat rides. A photo contest will continue through June 21 (see briefs, page 3). Historical society to purchase The Elms

'It was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to acquire the property.'

CHARLES RAYMOND
Chairman, Board of Trustees

The Bethel Historical Society has signed a purchase-and-sale agreement with the Bethel Inn and Country Club to acquire the present Elms building, which the society plans to adapt for use as a research center and museum for regional and local history.

The Elms is located on a lot adjoining the historical society headquarters on Broad Street.

"It was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to acquire the property," said Charles Raymond, chairman of the society Board of Trustees. "After much consideration, it looked like the logical way to go," he added. The purchase is expected to take place before the end of the year.

The purchase price is $300,000, minus revenue from a lease-back agreement, according to society director Stanley Howe, Ph.D.

This decision culminates a 10-year search for additional space that the society has been undertaking following two Museum Assessment Program surveys. A number of possible choices were considered. Up until last summer, the society had focused its recent efforts on adding a building in the rear of the Dr. Moses Mason House, but increasingly members and trustees voiced concern about reducing the amount of green space in Bethel's historic district.

The Bethel Inn, which was planning to demolish a good portion of the Elms building to upgrade guest accommodations, became aware of the society's need for space. Making plans to add to the present main inn building and to move all housing for guests to the other side of Broad Street, Richard Rasor, owner of the Bethel Inn and Country Club offered to sell the building to the society for its use as a museum and historical research center.

For several months, various committees of the society have examined this step and after negotiations with the inn concluded a purchase and sale agreement. A capital campaign has been organized and strategies have been developed to determine how the society will

Bingo developers make their pitch to local businesspeople

By ALISON ALOISIO

About 50 people -- some from Bethel area businesses -- attended a gathering last week to hear a developer's description of the economic benefits of a high stakes bingo hall in Albany.

The 2,000 bingo players the proposed facility would accommodate, said developer Jeff Kosow, "will need hotels and restaurants." Several area lodging businesspeople were at the Wednesday evening meeting.

The 43,000-square-foot hall would be located on Passamaquoddy tribal land. It would operate 27 weekends a year, primarily in the spring and fall.

"There are not beds enough during the ski season to accommodate (the players)," Kosow said. Most bingo players would stay overnight one or two nights, he said.

About 70 percent of the patrons would arrive by bus, with the remainder coming in private vehicles. Games would be run from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturdays, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays.

Eric Altwater, lieutenant of the Passamaquoddy Pleasant Point Reservation, was emphatic that no alcohol would be served at the hall. "Alcohol is the worst thing that ever came across an American Indian. I have no intention in making money off people's addictions," Altwater said.

His people, he said, have an average unemployment rate of 60 percent, and he would like to see profits from the hall used as seed money to attract more business to Washington County, where the Pleasant Point Reservation is located.

Kosow acknowledged there would be "negative fallout" from the development -- most of it to immediate abutters. "But you have to weigh that against the 3,000 people (Passamaquoddy) it is helping," he said.

Effects on water, air, traffic One abutter, Ed Friel, worried about noise, vehicle exhaust, and whether runoff from the parking lot

Telstar graduates

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Class of 1997 said goodbye Friday night to a packed house at Telstar High School's 29th Commencement.

Summa cum laude, co-valectorian Daniel and Fred Emerson addressed the gathering on the topics of friendship and time, respectively.

Daniel said that learning to be a friend to others was as important as the academic accomplishments his class attained in their four years.

"The majority of knowledge gained during the past few years does not originate in the classroom, and our instructors were not found at the front of the room by the chalkboard," he said. "Our instruction was held in the hallways, on the athletic fields, after school, when the formal part was concluded -- taught by our friends, peers, experiences -- with the only report card being the measure of our happiness in life."

"Fred spoke of the human perception of time and the events that take place within it."

The events of yesterday, he said, may "fade into the mist of time, yet an event years prior may be as vivid as the moment it occurred. This reveals that memory is selective. Each moment is assigned a relative importance, an importance that will decide how it will stand the test of time. It is my hope and belief that after the passage of decades, tonight will be one such moment so preserved in the minds of this

SUSPECT SOUGHT

Bethel Police are investigating the theft of $5,000 in cash from Brown's Mobil Station on Route 2 Monday around 7:30 a.m. The 250-pound, 5-foot 8- or 9-inch suspect left in a large vehicle, headed east on Route 2. Board OKs Doc Shaw's shore docks

By ALISON ALOISIO

Bethel optometrist Lennie Shaw can put enough seasonal docks in the water at his South Pond cottage to accommodate his family's seven boats, the Greenwood Appeals Board ruled last week.

But at least one board member thinks the town should consider an ordinance to specifically limit dockage in the future.

Norm Putnam, Greenwood's code enforcement officer, had denied earlier dock applications from Shaw, including one to place a total of 386 square feet of dockage in the water.

Putnam cited town ordinance language saying that docks "shall be no larger in dimension than necessary to carry on the activity and be consistent with existing conditions, use, and character of the area."

Putnam said existing conditions in the immediate area -- that is, the size of nearby docks -- indicated 386 square feet of dockage would be too much. The other docks, he said, did not exceed 200 square feet.

Putnam also based his decision on a formula he developed from a dock survey he conducted on South Pond last fall.

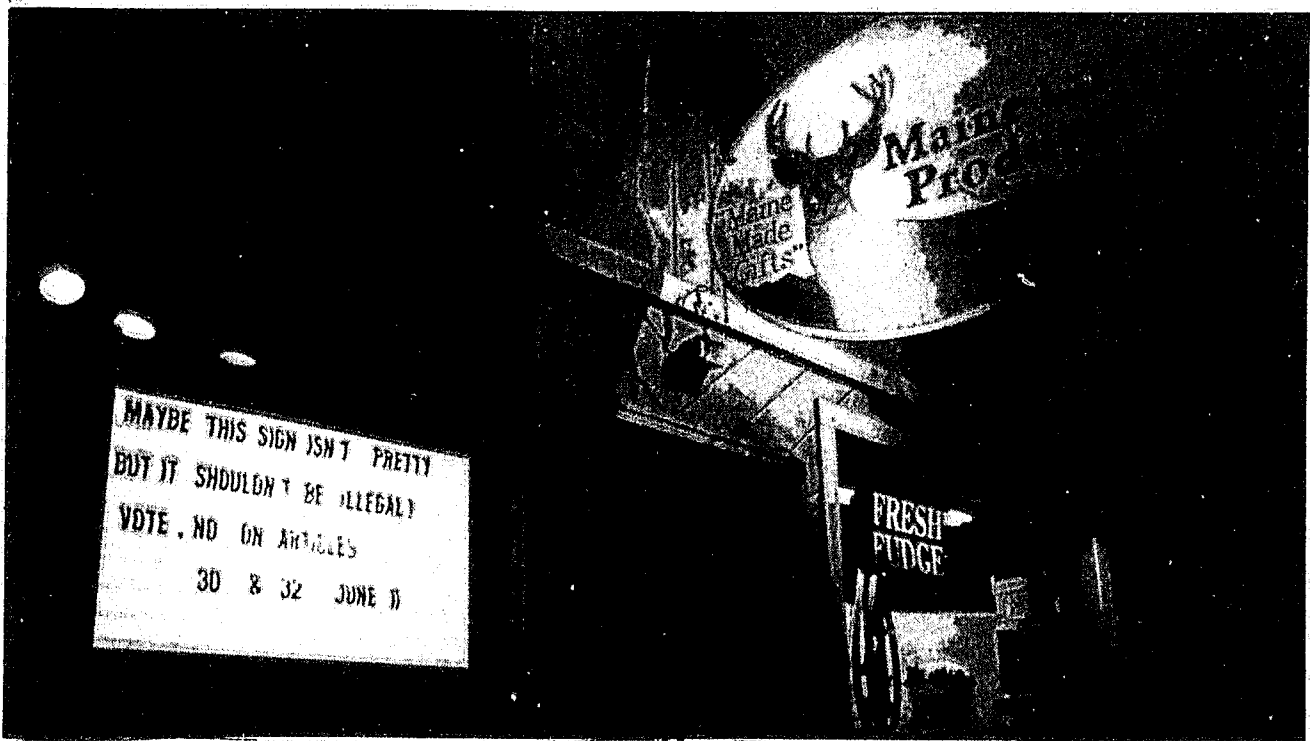

The survey showed average dock size -- discounting the largest and smallest docks measured -- came to 126 square feet.

Putnam then came up with a formula making allowable dock size a function of the shore frontage of the lot in question. The formula was informally endorsed by Planning Board members.

Using that standard, Putnam said, Shaw should be limited to 211 square feet of dockage.

In appealing Putnam's decision, Shaw argued the code enforcement officer went a step too far in creating the formula. Shaw said that in his opinion, the CEO was generat-

The proposed capital-improvement items include on-going road and street work ($230,000), a new

Fire Department tank truck ($100,000) and used utility van ($30,000), money ($25,000) to be set aside toward the eventual renovation or replacement of the present fire station, a fully equipped highway truck with plow ($72,000), replacement of the Town Office computer system ($21,100), additional money ($10,500) spent on the ongoing upgrade of the town's communication system, and a "thumb" for the town backhoe ($4,750).

The individual capital improvements are not broken out on the

WELCOME THEM TO BETHEL

To the Editor:

All voters of the Town of Bethel will have an opportunity to attend the Bethel annual Town Meeting this Wednesday night. Article 14 on the town warrant reads, "To see if the Voters of the Town of Bethel will raise and appropriate $7,500 for Welcome To Bethel Signs." Although the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors instigated this article, it is not a chamber article. If the article is voted in the affirmative, the monies will stay in the Town of Bethel's account and the town will pay the bills to the sign maker.

The process for designing a sign and confirming all the details will be done by a committee. The chamber will solicit input from Bethel's Planning Board, the Bethel Sign Committee, the business community and town citizens. (One possible version of such a sign is illustrated to the right.) Three locations have been targeted: 1) on the Gateway Property on Route 26 North; 2) adjacent to Route 2 East, near the Mill Brook before the Railroad Street turnoff; 3) on Route 2 West, across from the Riverside Rest Area before the Sunday River Road turnoff. The Maine DOT has been consulted and they have approved these locations.

We would like our Welcome to Bethel signs to be something that not only welcomes visitors to our town, but also provides a "welcome home" to those of us who live here. Public input is very much appreciated. We would like to leave open the possibility of making the signs two sided and have a "Thanks for Visiting, Please Come Back Soon" message. The sign shown on this page may or may not be the final design. We will solicit several designs before making any decision.

Voters' support of this article is key to its passage. Thank you.

Robin Zinchuk
Executive Director, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

FAMILY DAY AT MT. WILL

To the Editor:

With the cooperation of Mother Nature, Family Day at Mt. Will on Saturday was a wonderfully fun day for all. More than 60 people of all ages came to take part in the festivities. Most were from the greater Bethel area, and some traveled from farther away: Cumberland and Kennebunkport, and even a couple from Germany. It was exciting to share the beauty of and the breathtaking views from Mt. Will with so many.

Winners of the registration lottery were: Helen Cooper, Justin Richardson, and Donna Gillies of Bethel; Adam Tanguay, Mark Tanguay, Timmy Beaudet, and Deb Folsom of Albany; Tucker Brown, Devon Brown, and Jim Moore of Newry; and David McCullough of Kennebunkport.

We would like to thank volunteers Nancy Babcock, Nat Reade, Mac Davis, Heather Goodwin, and Sue Lincoln for donating their time, Truc North Adventurewear for organizing the scavenger hunt, Boy Scout Troop 565 for putting on the low-impact campsite demonstration, Sunday River Inn for running pontoon boat rides on the Androscoggin, and the Good Food Store for providing ample trail food for all to enjoy.

Our gratitude also goes to the following organizations and businesses for donating prizes, services, or supplies, all of which contributed to making the day the success it was: Wight's Tights, Bib 'n Tucker, The Wild Rose, Bethel Inn, Carol of Bethel, Cafe DiCocoa, Vermont Maple Cookie, Fresh Samantha's Juice, Stonyfield Farm, Tom's of Maine, Tender Corporation, Wal-Mart, Robert T. Folsom Corporation, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, and Hurricane Island Outward Bound School.

FAREWELL FROM M. HENLEY

To the Editor:

Although my employment with Bethel has ended I have some unfinished business. I need to thank once again the citizens and Board members that attended my reception. Their kind words and thoughtful cards are greatly appreciated.

I want to thank Phil Tarr for his gracious behavior during the two weeks we worked together. I know from experience how difficult it is to wait, even after you have officially begun your new duties, for the outgoing manager to actually go out.

I also want to thank you, Mike, for allowing a cordial and trusting relationship to grow between us. Managers and the press rarely become "confidants," but your friendship and advice has been welcome.

I expect soon everyone will come to feel that Phil Tarr is "their" town manager, a resource person to be used and enjoyed, but until that day I am grateful for the time that I have spent serving that special function in their lives.

The weightier business remaining is that I cannot leave Bethel without a public and formal acknowledgment of the debt I owe the town employees. I seem finally to be at a loss for words. I have learned so much from these so-called subordinates that it is difficult to set the lessons in order. They accepted me as their leader and spokesperson, then patiently went about teaching me what I needed to know in order to represent them. Graciousness in demanding circumstances from the road crew and counter staff. Stoic politeness from the police. The importance of listening to every single person in order to get the very best answer from the planning staff and the fire department. The necessity of both holistic vision and detailed understanding from the ambulance. And from all of them, a deep commitment to service. Bethel employees do a wonderful job most all of the time. Not for money nor recognition, but because they take pride in their work and enjoy the sense of accomplishment derived from doing a difficult thing very well. On top of all of that, they were kind enough to extend their friendship to me. For all of this, I am humbly grateful.

SIGNS OF WELCOME--Bethel voters will be asked at their annual Town Meeting tonight to approve $7,500 for the new "Welcome to Bethel" signs. The signs are intended in part to help direct visitors to businesses in the central village. Three possible sites have been suggested for the signs: the Gateway property on Route 26, on Route 2 near Mill Brook, and before the Sunday River Road turnoff. The final design for the signs has not yet been determined. The rendering to the left was suggested by Don Katlin of Katlin Signs.

warrant for tonight's meeting, but are contained in a single article (Article 12), which also includes $70,000 for debt service.

The selectmen voted 3-1 to recommend Article 12; the Budget Committee voted 7-4 to recommend it.

The selectmen and Budget Committee are recommending that $450,000 of the cost of the capital improvements be taken from fund balance.

Also included in the budget is a $7,500 allocation for "Welcome to Bethel" signs (see possible design, above).

This is one of five citizen-initiated articles, which carry no recommendation from the selectmen or Budget Committee.

The four other such articles include an appropriation of $4,469 for the Western Area Agency on Aging, $2,060 for the Androscoggin Home Health Services, $2,570 for Community Concepts, and $2,815 for the Channel IV Association.

A proposal to spend $4,375 to relocate the Bethel Police Station to the U.S. Forest Service building on Mayville Road is also on the warrant.

The selectmen and Budget Committee are recommending voters approve the expenditure, but the recommendations came too late to be included on the printed warrant.

The overall municipal budget as proposed would be $1,743,294, which is up $363,711 -- due to the proposed capital improvement expenditures.

If voters approve the budget and $450,000 fund-balance withdrawal, the town tax rate (currently $14.65) is expected to hold steady for another year.

Ordinance revisions

Voters will also be asked tonight to approve changes to five town ordinances.

The most significant of the proposed revisions to the town Sign Ordinance, where the town Sign Committee and Planning Board are recommending that all new internally lighted signs be prohibited (current signs would be grandfathered).

The prohibition would apply not only to external signs, but also to new lighted window signs.

Also prohibited would be signs attached to or printed on balloons, kites or other aerial devices.

Some types of signage currently prohibited would be allowed under the proposed revisions.

Roof signs would be allowed, but such signs would be limited to a maximum of two feet in vertical size and could not be located any higher than the first-floor roof peak.

The revisions also authorize off-premise real estate signs in cases where the property is located at a distance from the public way.

Restaurants and other businesses with changeable specials and menus would be authorized an additional free-standing sign, not to exceed six square feet, on which to advertise such information.

Other changes to the sign ordinance would authorize the Planning Board to initiate action against violations. Currently this authority is limited to the code enforcement officer.

Proposed revisions to the Site Plan Review Ordinance would add traffic-flow considerations to the review standards, and would require that landscape planting be undertaken within one year of the start of construction.

A proposed amendment to the Subdivision Ordinance would establish minimum sight distances for driveways, based on the posted speed limit.

The Floodplain Ordinance would be revised to incorporate the latest floodplain data from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Voters will also be asked to replace the town's 1956 Building Residence Ordinance with a new Building Permit Ordinance, which specifies procedures, definitions and a fee schedule for all new construction.

Times and place

Tonight's meeting will be held in the cafeteria of the Crescent Park School, beginning at 7 p.m.

Election results

Voting for town officials took place Tuesday, and polls did not close until after The Citizen went to press.

The results of the election will be reported in our June 18 edition.

Docks

ing, rather than enforcing, regulations.

Board member Michael Daniels agreed, saying the formula did not carry the force of law. He also pointed out Putnam's survey showed there are other docks of over 200 square feet elsewhere on South Pond.

Of the 29 docks surveyed, four exceed 200 square feet. Their dimensions are 208, 215, 235 and 696 square feet, respectively.

The three-member board concurred the dockage -- consisting of nine, 4 x 12-foot sections -- requested by Shaw was necessary to "carry on the activity" associated with the family's numerous boats.

Seven boats, said Daniels, "might be viewed by some as wretched excess," but the town's Shoreland Zoning Ordinance did not authorize the board to make such judgments.

(And Daniels said he sympathized with the family's desire for a variety of watercraft. Noting that he himself was a cyclist, he said he had three bicycles, was lobbying for a fourth, and could explain his reasons for needing each -- to the satisfaction of anyone but his wife.)

The Shaw family's fleet consists of a ski boat, a runabout, an aluminum boat, a skiff, a dory, a sailboat and a rowing shell.

Speck tower

needed to haul the heavy construction materials to the site, and first bad weather, then mechanical problems with National Guard helicopters stymied their earlier efforts.

Now, with the additional state money, Haskell said, he has been able to hire a private helicopter -- which is far easier to schedule than the National Guard aircraft.

Plans call for the work to be completed over the weekend of June 20-22. The rain date is the following weekend.

The rebuilding will include replacing most of the structural elements of the tower, as well as the ladder and platform.

The new platform will be only 28 feet off the ground, but that is more than high enough to see over the small, mountain-top trees that surround it, Haskell said.

The top of Old Speck is forested, and without the tower the view is very limited.

The tower is reached by a 3.8-mile hike from Route 26 in Grafton Notch. Hikers on the Appalachian Trail can reach the tower by way of a quarter-mile spur trail.

Please stay away for now

Because of the construction activity and the helicopter hauling heavy materials, Haskell said, all trails within a half mile of the tower will be closed while work is in progress.

Volunteers will be posted at the close trail heads (and the head of the old ranger trail) to turn would-be onlookers away.

The Appalachian Trail to Speck Pond will remain open, he said.

to the white strobes for the day, said Ross Kingston, AT&T operations manager for Maine.

"We hope to start this week. It's several days' work," he said.

Kingston said the company had gotten Federal Aviation Administration approval for the switch.

Asked if the combined light system had been used anywhere else, Kingston said he had heard of it being done in other places, under similar circumstances.

Kingston and company spokesman Rick Brayall could not say what the exact cost would be to AT&T. But, said Brayall, "It's an extra expense we're incurring to keep the citizenry happy."

Kingston said his crew has been up several times in the past few months to try to adjust the strobe lights to a lower intensity at night.

But he also said that shortly after Sciacchitano's initial complaint, the company began looking into adding the red lights.

"We're glad we're able to do it,"

he said. "We want to be good neighbors."

Sciacchitano said Monday she is pleased with the company's plan. "I am surprised, but very happy, naturally. I'm amazed at how responsive they were. They're a huge corporation and I don't think of large corporations being responsive to a small community." And, said Sciacchitano, who now does her phone business with another company, "I'm going to become an AT&T customer."

succeed in achieving this in 2001.

For several years the society has been increasingly challenged by limited space for exhibits, collections, research, and special events, Howe said.

The Long Range/Strategic Planning Committee has been studying many options in developing a plan for the society's future expansion.

In April 1993, the Board of Trustees endorsed goals to secure more adequate and professional storage for collections, to provide space for exhibitions, both temporary and permanent, to develop a classroom, craft room, museum store, and expanded research facilities, to establish displays for farming, logging, mining and transportation artifacts, and to place all of this in a Center for Local and Regional History.

"Since Bethel is central to the geographic heart of Northern New England and its collections already relate to western Maine and the White Mountain region, it appeared to be a logical step," said society president Walter Hatch, who has been intimately involved in the day-to-day negotiations.

"We look forward to an exciting future for the society as we build on past successes," concluded Raymond. "Our goal is to make the society one of the leading historical organizations in Northern New England," he added.

Moose hunt hearing

BETHEL--The Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife will hold a public hearing in Bethel on June 16 regarding the decision -- taken in December -- to expand the state's moose hunt to this area. The expansion has generated local opposition, especially from businesses concerned about the possible impact on fall tourism. Paul Reynolds, DIF&W director of information and education, said the decision is unlikely to be reversed as a result of comments at the public hearing. Rather, he said, the purpose of the hearing is "to clarify misconceptions about the expanded zone. We think it will have minimum impact and the public is being unnecessarily alarmed."

New Bethel Animal Hospital planned

BETHEL--The Planning Board on June 4 gave Dr. Gary Stuer the green light to go ahead with his plans to build a new Bethel Animal Hospital. "When I came here in 1994, I had one employee. Now I have five. Our needs far exceed the capacity of the building," Stuer told the board. He said his practice is gaining business at a rate of about 50 new clients a month. He took over the practice from Dr. Jim Hudson. Stuer said he expected to gain business, but was surprised that it happened so quickly. He now has 2,500 clients, and it takes two or three weeks for them to get a non-emergency appointment. Stuer plans to build a new facility on the same property. It will be designed by an architect specializing in veterinary hospitals -- and will be soundproof to contain the noise of barking dogs. The kennel area will also be enclosed. The one-story, wooden-sided building will have an area of 4,390 square feet. Stuer also said he expects to add another veterinarian to the practice and hire additional staff after the new hospital is completed -- probably in the fall. The board's OK was conditional on approval as well from the fire marshal and MDOT (for an entrance from Route 26). A sign permit will also be required.

Gamble leaves SAD44 board

BETHEL--Linda Gamble, SAD44 director from Bethel, has submitted her resignation, according to chairman Kelly Scotti. Scotti said Monday Gamble cited her work schedule as the reason she is leaving with a year left on her term. Directors also voted Monday night to cancel the regular July 14 meeting of the SAD44 School Board. It has been the practice to cancel that meeting because of members and staff often being away during that period of time.

Bike lane plans firmed up

NEWRY--A four-mile bike lane stretching from Jordan Bowl to the Sunday River Inn is expected to be completed by the fall, according to selectman Steve Wight. The lane will be built in conjunction with road improvements planned by Sunday River Ski Resort as part of the Jordan Bowl Hotel project, as well as other work on the Sunday River Road to be done by the town. The ski resort has indicated it will pay for two miles of the bike path and would share the cost with the town for a portion of the other two miles, Wight said. As money becomes available, a path would be added to the other side of the road.

Mental health presentation planned

RUMFORD--The Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Maine was recently awarded a State Initiative Grant by the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill. The grant has allowed AMI-ME to look into changes in managed care, Medicaid and mental health in Maine. As part of the grant, a curriculum has been developed to educate families and consumers about what the changes may mean. A managed care presentation will take place in Rumford on Tuesday, June 17. For more information call (207) 364-3549.

Old-fashioned quilt show scheduled

BETHEL--The 11th Annual Quilt Show, presented by the Middle Intervale Meeting House Society, will take place June 27 and 28 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The show will feature a collection of antique and modern quilts, and there will also be a quilt raffle. There is a donation of $3. Children under 12 are free. For more information call the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce at 824-2282.

Quick action saves mill

BETHEL--Bethel fire chief Jim Young is "leaning toward an electric light" as the probable cause of a fire Friday night at the Newton-Tebbets mill in West Bethel. A call from someone returning home from Telstar High School graduation ceremonies alerted authorities to the fire about 9:30 p.m. When firefighters arrived, the section of the mill between the main building and the boiler room was fully involved, Young said. Using water shuttled from Barker Brook, firefighters from Bethel, Newry and Greenwood were able to contain the blaze in about an hour and a half. In addition to the area where the fire began, there was some damage to the roof, Young said. The majority of the mill was saved. "We lucked out for a change," said Young. The Fire Department returned to the scene twice Saturday to put out hot spots -- then went back again early Tuesday morning when the fire flared up once more, Young said. The state fire marshal is investigating the fire. Young believes an electric light may be responsible. Bethel Rescue stood by at the scene during the blaze, and the Rumford Point Fire Department covered Newry. There was no one in the mill at the time of the fire, and there were no injuries.

Animals from farm up for adoption

BERLIN, N.H.--A couple whose 125-acre farmhouse has been overrun by animals since winter has been charged with health violations. Police Lt. Barney Valiere said the charges stem from the couple's squalid yard, in which mounds of garbage and animal carcasses were found during a recent search. The inspection came as a result of neighbors' complaints and concerns over the welfare of the numerous animals residing on the property. But no animal cruelty charges were filed, Valiere said. "The veterinarian who was on scene that night didn't believe the animals fit into that category. Although the area and the house are filthy, the animals were fed and watered on a daily basis," Valiere said. The Mount Washington Valley Humane Society is working with the Lacasses to find homes for the more than 70 cats and dogs found on the property. Humane society representative Laura Poulin said people already have begun calling offering to adopt some of the animals. She suggests they go to the farm, pick out a healthy looking animal and bring it to a veterinarian for a checkup before bringing it home. But Poulin said there are so many cats, many may have to be euthanized.

N.H. bans gay discrimination

CONCORD, N.H.--In a move that will protect the rights of homosexuals, New Hampshire has banned discrimination because of sexual orientation in job hiring, housing decisions and public accommodations. New Hampshire becomes the 11th state to offer civil rights protection to gays and lesbians. The bill, signed into law on Friday by Gov. Jeanne Shaheen, takes effect Jan. 1. A similar measure failed three years ago after strong opposition from the Catholic Church. The new measure includes a church-approved caveat that says the state does not approve of any sexual lifestyle "other than the traditional marriage-based family." Under the bill, sexual orientation will be added to anti-discrimination protections based on age, sex, race, color, ethnic background, physical or mental disability, marital status, religious or political beliefs. Maine approved similar civil rights protections last month. Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Hawaii, California, New Jersey, Vermont and Minnesota also bar discrimination against gays.

Project engineer Steve Bushey of DeLuca Hoffman Associates, Inc., said air emissions and noise would be within state-required limits. He also said runoff would drain into one of several planned retention ponds. The site of the building itself would be built up with fill from the property.

Several people were skeptical the ponds could handle the water that accumulates in the area during the wet season. The site includes wetland areas.

"You have an island and a nice moat around it," said Bob Folsom of the site design.

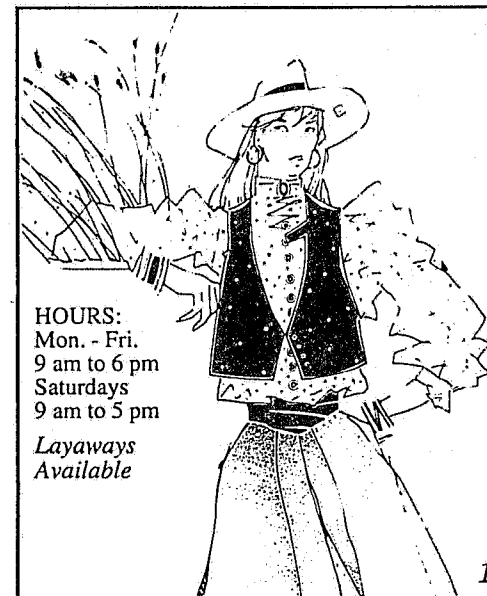

Bushey said soils scientists and biologists had visited the property several times in the summer and fall seasons to identify the wetland areas. He also said the site is adequate for waste disposal from the facility.

Traffic was another worry for some Albany residents. Bushey said several hundred vehicles would arrive during the peak hour on Saturday morning. The plan calls for rebuilding the Old West Bethel Road, where the facility would be located.

A traffic control officer -- paid for by the tribe -- would be placed at the Route 5 intersection if needed, the developers said.

WELCOME THEM TO BETHEL

To the Editor:

All voters of the Town of Bethel will have an opportunity to attend the Bethel annual Town Meeting this Wednesday night. Article 14 on the town warrant reads, "To see if the Voters of the Town of Bethel will raise and appropriate $7,500 for Welcome To Bethel Signs." Although the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors instigated this article, it is not a chamber article. If the article is voted in the affirmative, the monies will stay in the Town of Bethel's account and the town will pay the bills to the sign maker.

The process for designing a sign and confirming all the details will be done by a committee. The chamber will solicit input from Bethel's Planning Board, the Bethel Sign Committee, the business community and town citizens. (One possible version of such a sign is illustrated to the right.) Three locations have been targeted: 1) on the Gateway Property on Route 26 North; 2) adjacent to Route 2 East, near the Mill Brook before the Railroad Street turnoff; 3) on Route 2 West, across from the Riverside Rest Area before the Sunday River Road turnoff. The Maine DOT has been consulted and they have approved these locations.

We would like our Welcome to Bethel signs to be something that not only welcomes visitors to our town, but also provides a "welcome home" to those of us who live here. Public input is very much appreciated. We would like to leave open the possibility of making the signs two sided and have a "Thanks for Visiting, Please Come Back Soon" message. The sign shown on this page may or may not be the final design. We will solicit several designs before making any decision.

Voters' support of this article is key to its passage. Thank you.

FAMILY DAY AT MT. WILL

To the Editor:

With the cooperation of Mother Nature, Family Day at Mt. Will on Saturday was a wonderfully fun day for all. More than 60 people of all ages came to take part in the festivities. Most were from the greater Bethel area, and some traveled from farther away: Cumberland and Kennebunkport, and even a couple from Germany. It was exciting to share the beauty of and the breathtaking views from Mt. Will with so many.

Winners of the registration lottery were: Helen Cooper, Justin Richardson, and Donna Gillies of Bethel; Adam Tanguay, Mark Tanguay, Timmy Beaudet, and Deb Folsom of Albany; Tucker Brown, Devon Brown, and Jim Moore of Newry; and David McCullough of Kennebunkport.

We would like to thank volunteers Nancy Babcock, Nat Reade, Mac Davis, Heather Goodwin, and Sue Lincoln for donating their time, True North Adventurewear for organizing the scavenger hunt, Boy Scout Troop 565 for putting on the low-impact campsite demonstration, Sunday River Inn for running pontoon boat rides on the Androscoggin, and the Good Food Store for providing ample trail food for all to enjoy.

Our gratitude also goes to the following organizations and businesses for donating prizes, services, or supplies, all of which contributed to making the day the success it was: Wight's Tights, Bib 'n Tucker, The Wild Rose, Bethel Inn, Carol of Bethel, Cafe DiCocoa, Vermont Maple Cookie, Fresh Samantha's Juice, Stonyfield Farm, Tom's of Maine, Tender Corporation, Wal-Mart, Robert T. Folsom Corporation, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, and Hurricane Island Outward Bound School.

FAREWELL FROM M. HENLEY

To the Editor:

Although my employment with Bethel has ended I have some unfinished business. I need to thank once again the citizens and Board members that attended my reception. Their kind words and thoughtful cards are greatly appreciated.

I want to thank Phil Tarr for his gracious behavior during the two weeks we worked together. I know from experience how difficult it is to wait, even after you have officially begun your new duties, for the outgoing manager to actually go out.

I also want to thank you, Mike, for allowing a cordial and trusting relationship to grow between us. Managers and the press rarely become confidants, but your friendship and advice has been welcome.

I expect soon everyone will come to feel that Phil Tarr is "their" town manager, a resource person to be used and enjoyed, but until that day I am grateful for the time that I have spent serving that special function in their lives.

The weightier business remaining is that I cannot leave Bethel without a public and formal acknowledgment of the debt I owe the town employees. I seem finally to be at a loss for words. I have learned so much from these so-called subordinates that it is difficult to set the lessons in order. They accepted me as their leader and spokesperson, then patiently went about teaching me what I needed to know in order to represent them. Graciousness in demanding circumstances from the road crew and counter staff. Stoic politeness from the police. The importance of listening to every single person in order to get the very best answer from the planning staff and the fire department. The necessity of both holistic vision and detailed understanding from the ambulance. And from all of them, a deep commitment to service. Bethel employees do a wonderful job most all of the time. Not for money nor recognition, but because they take pride in their work and enjoy the sense of accomplishment derived from doing a difficult thing very well. On top of all of that, they were kind enough to extend their friendship to me. For all of this, I am humbly grateful.

SIGNS OF WELCOME--Bethel voters will be asked at their annual Town Meeting tonight to approve $7,500 for the new "Welcome to Bethel" signs. The signs are intended in part to help direct visitors to businesses in the central village. Three possible sites have been suggested for the signs: the Gateway property on Route 26, on Route 2 near Mill Brook, and before the Sunday River Road turnoff. The final design for the signs has not yet been determined. The rendering to the left was suggested by Don Katlin of Katlin Signs.

warrant for tonight's meeting, but are contained in a single article (Article 12), which also includes $70,000 for debt service.

The selectmen voted 3-1 to recommend Article 12; the Budget Committee voted 7-4 to recommend it.

The selectmen and Budget Committee are recommending that $450,000 of the cost of the capital improvements be taken from fund balance.

Also included in the budget is a $7,500 allocation for "Welcome to Bethel" signs (see possible design, above).

This is one of five citizen-initiated articles, which carry no recommendation from the selectmen or Budget Committee.

The four other such articles include an appropriation of $4,469 for the Western Area Agency on Aging, $2,060 for the Androscoggin Home Health Services, $2,570 for Community Concepts, and $2,815 for the Channel IV Association.

A proposal to spend $4,375 to relocate the Bethel Police Station to the U.S. Forest Service building on Mayville Road is also on the warrant.

The selectmen and Budget Committee are recommending voters approve the expenditure, but the recommendations came too late to be included on the printed warrant.

The overall municipal budget as proposed would be $1,743,294, which is up $363,711 -- due to the proposed capital improvement expenditures.

If voters approve the budget and $450,000 fund-balance withdrawal, the town tax rate (currently $14.65) is expected to hold steady for another year.

Ordinance revisions

Voters will also be asked tonight to approve changes to five town ordinances.

The most significant of the proposed revisions to the town Sign Ordinance, where the town Sign Committee and Planning Board are recommending that all new internally lighted signs be prohibited (current signs would be grandfathered).

The prohibition would apply not only to external signs, but also to new lighted window signs.

Also prohibited would be signs attached to or printed on balloons, kites or other aerial devices.

Some types of signage currently prohibited would be allowed under the proposed revisions.

Roof signs would be allowed, but such signs would be limited to a maximum of two feet in vertical size and could not be located any higher than the first-floor roof peak.

The revisions also authorize off-premise real estate signs in cases where the property is located at a distance from the public way.

Restaurants and other businesses with changeable specials and menus would be authorized an additional free-standing sign, not to exceed six square feet, on which to advertise such information.

Other changes to the sign ordinance would authorize the Planning Board to initiate action against violations. Currently this authority is limited to the code enforcement officer.

Proposed revisions to the Site Plan Review Ordinance would add traffic-flow considerations to the review standards, and would require that landscape planting be undertaken within one year of the start of construction.

A proposed amendment to the Subdivision Ordinance would establish minimum sight distances for driveways, based on the posted speed limit.

The Floodplain Ordinance would be revised to incorporate the latest floodplain data from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Voters will also be asked to replace the town's 1956 Building Residence Ordinance with a new Building Permit Ordinance, which specifies procedures, definitions and a fee schedule for all new construction.

Times and place

Tonight's meeting will be held in the cafeteria of the Crescent Park School, beginning at 7 p.m.

Election results

Voting for town officials took place Tuesday, and polls did not close until after The Citizen went to press.

The results of the election will be reported in our June 18 edition.

ing, rather than enforcing, regulations.

Board member Michael Daniels agreed, saying the formula did not carry the force of law. He also pointed out Putnam's survey showed there are other docks of over 200 square feet elsewhere on South Pond.

Of the 29 docks surveyed, four exceed 200 square feet. Their dimensions are 208, 215, 235 and 696 square feet, respectively.

The three-member board concurred the dockage -- consisting of nine, 4 x 12-foot sections -- requested by Shaw was necessary to "carry on the activity" associated with the family's numerous boats.

Seven boats, said Daniels, "might be viewed by some as wretched excess," but the town's Shoreland Zoning Ordinance did not authorize the board to make such judgments. (And Daniels said he sympathized with the family's desire for a variety of watercraft. Noting that he himself was a cyclist, he said he had three bicycles, was lobbying for a fourth, and could explain his reasons for needing each -- to the satisfaction of anyone but his wife.)

The Shaw family's fleet consists of a ski boat, a runabout, an aluminum boat, a skiff, a dory, a sailboat and a rowing shell.

Board chairman Wayne Hakala voted to grant the appeal, partly, he said, because Shaw's application called for splitting the total dockage in two separate installations, which would not be visible from each other.

But, said Hakala, "The town needs something in writing limiting dock size."

He said Putnam's survey could serve as a basis for a new dock ordinance to be voted upon by the town.

Hakala said after the meeting he thought the general concept of relating dock area to shore frontage was a good one.

needed to haul the heavy construction materials to the site, and first bad weather, then mechanical problems with National Guard helicopters stymied their earlier efforts.

Now, with the additional state money, Haskell said, he has been able to hire a private helicopter -- which is far easier to schedule than the National Guard aircraft.

Plans call for the work to be completed over the weekend of June 20-22. The rain date is the following weekend.

The rebuilding will include

replacing most of the structural elements of the tower, as well as the ladder and platform.

The new platform will be only 28 feet off the ground, but that is more than high enough to see over the small, mountain-top trees that surround it, Haskell said.

The top of Old Speck is forested, and without the tower the view is very limited.

The tower is reached by a 3.8-mile hike from Route 26 in Grafton Notch. Hikers on the Appalachian Trail can reach the tower by way of a quarter-mile spur trail.

Please stay away for now

Because of the construction activity and the helicopter hauling heavy materials, Haskell said, all trails within a half mile of the tower will be closed while work is in progress.

Volunteers will be posted at the close trail heads (and the head of the old ranger trail) to turn would-be onlookers away.

The Appalachian Trail to Speck Pond will remain open, he said.

AT&T

to the white strobes for the day, said Ross Kingston, AT&T operations manager for Maine.

"We hope to start this week. It's several days' work," he said.

Kingston said the company had gotten Federal Aviation Administration approval for the switch.

Asked if the combined light system had been used anywhere else, Kingston said he had heard of it being done in other places, under similar circumstances.

Kingston and company spokesman Rick Brayall could not say what the exact cost would be to AT&T. But, said Brayall, "It's an extra expense we're incurring to keep the citizenry happy."

Kingston said his crew has been up several times in the past few months to try to adjust the strobe lights to a lower intensity at night.

But he also said that shortly after Sciacchitano's initial complaint, the company began looking into adding the red lights.

"We're glad we're able to do it,"

he said. "We want to be good neighbors."

And, said Sciacchitano, who now does her phone business with another company, "I'm going to become an AT&T customer."

succeed in achieving this in 2001.

For several years the society has been increasingly challenged by limited space for exhibits, collections, research, and special events, Howe said.

The Long Range/Strategic Planning Committee has been studying many options in developing a plan for the society's future expansion.

In April 1993, the Board of Trustees endorsed goals to secure more adequate and professional storage for collections, to provide space for exhibitions, both temporary and permanent, to develop a classroom, craft room, museum store, and expanded research facilities, to establish displays for farming, logging, mining and transportation artifacts, and to place all of this in a Center for Local and Regional History.

"Since Bethel is central to the geographic heart of Northern New England and its collections already relate to western Maine and the White Mountain region, it appeared to be a logical step," said society president Walter Hatch, who has been intimately involved in the day-to-day negotiations.

"We look forward to an exciting future for the society as we build on past successes," concluded Raymond. "Our goal is to make the society one of the leading historical organizations in Northern New England," he added.

Moose hunt hearing

BETHEL--The Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife will hold a public hearing in Bethel on June 16 regarding the decision -- taken in December -- to expand the state's moose hunt to this area. The expansion has generated local opposition, especially from businesses concerned about the possible impact on fall tourism. Paul Reynolds, DIF&W director of information and education, said the decision is unlikely to be reversed as a result of comments at the public hearing. Rather, he said, the purpose of the hearing is "to clarify misconceptions about the expanded zone. We think it will have minimum impact and the public is being unnecessarily alarmed."

New Bethel Animal Hospital planned

BETHEL--The Planning Board on June 4 gave Dr. Gary Stuer the green light to go ahead with his plans to build a new Bethel Animal Hospital. "When I came here in 1994, I had one employee. Now I have five. Our needs far exceed the capacity of the building," Stuer told the board. He said his practice is gaining business at a rate of about 50 new clients a month. He took over the practice from Dr. Jim Hudson. Stuer said he expected to gain business, but was surprised that it happened so quickly. He now has 2,500 clients, and it takes two or three weeks for them to get a non-emergency appointment. Stuer plans to build a new facility on the same property. It will be designed by an architect specializing in veterinary hospitals -- and will be soundproof to contain the noise of barking dogs. The kennel area will also be enclosed. The one-story, wooden-sided building will have an area of 4,390 square feet. Stuer also said he expects to add another veterinarian to the practice and hire additional staff after the new hospital is completed -- probably in the fall. The board's OK was conditional on approval as well from the fire marshal and MDOT (for an entrance from Route 26). A sign permit will also be required.

Gamble leaves SAD44 board

BETHEL--Linda Gamble, SAD44 director from Bethel, has submitted her resignation, according to chairman Kelly Scotti. Scotti said Monday Gamble cited her work schedule as the reason she is leaving with a year left on her term. Directors also voted Monday night to cancel the regular July 14 meeting of the SAD44 School Board. It has been the practice to cancel that meeting because of members and staff often being away during that period of time.

Get those photos in BETHEL--Entries for the Family Day at Mt. Will Photo Contest will be accepted until June 21. The winning photo will be displayed at the Bethel Art Fair, and the photographer will receive a $20 gift certificate to True North Adventurewear. Photos must be taken of or on Mt. Will. Entry forms are available at the Bethel Town Office. For more information call Amy Hinkley at 824-4768.

Bike lane plans firmed up

NEWRY--A four-mile bike lane stretching from Jordan Bowl to the Sunday River Inn is expected to be completed by the fall, according to selectman Steve Wight. The lane will be built in conjunction with road improvements planned by Sunday River Ski Resort as part of the Jordan Bowl Hotel project, as well as other work on the Sunday River Road to be done by the town. The ski resort has indicated it will pay for two miles of the bike path and would share the cost with the town for a portion of the other two miles, Wight said. As money becomes available, a path would be added to the other side of the road.

Mental health presentation planned

RUMFORD--The Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Maine was recently awarded a State Initiative Grant by the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill. The grant has allowed AMI-ME to look into changes in managed care, Medicaid and mental health in Maine. As part of the grant, a curriculum has been developed to educate families and consumers about what the changes may mean. A managed care presentation will take place in Rumford on Tuesday, June 17. For more information call (207) 364-3549.

Old-fashioned quilt show scheduled

BETHEL--The 11th Annual Quilt Show, presented by the Middle Intervale Meeting House Society, will take place June 27 and 28 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The show will feature a collection of antique and modern quilts, and there will also be a quilt raffle. There is a donation of $3. Children under 12 are free. For more information call the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce at 824-2282.

Quick action saves mill

BETHEL--Bethel fire chief Jim Young is "leaning toward an electric light" as the probable cause of a fire Friday night at the Newton-Tebbets mill in West Bethel. A call from someone returning home from Telstar High School graduation ceremonies alerted authorities to the fire about 9:30 p.m. When firefighters arrived, the section of the mill between the main building and the boiler room was fully involved, Young said. Using water shuttled from Barker Brook, firefighters from Bethel, Newry and Greenwood were able to contain the blaze in about an hour and a half. In addition to the area where the fire began, there was some damage to the roof, Young said. The majority of the mill was saved. "We lucked out for a change," said Young. The Fire Department returned to the scene twice Saturday to put out hot spots -- then went back again early Tuesday morning when the fire flared up once more, Young said. The state fire marshal is investigating the fire. Young believes an electric light may be responsible. Bethel Rescue stood by at the scene during the blaze, and the Rumford Point Fire Department covered Newry. There was no one in the mill at the time of the fire, and there were no injuries.

Animals from farm up for adoption

BERLIN, N.H.--A couple whose 125-acre farmhouse has been overrun by animals since winter has been charged with health violations. Police Lt. Barney Valiere said the charges stem from the couple's squalid yard, in which mounds of garbage and animal carcasses were found during a recent search. The inspection came as a result of neighbors' complaints and concerns over the welfare of the numerous animals residing on the property. But no animal cruelty charges were filed, Valiere said. "The veterinarian who was on scene that night didn't believe the animals fit into that category. Although the area and the house are filthy, the animals were fed and watered on a daily basis," Valiere said. The Mount Washington Valley Humane Society is working with the Lacasses to find homes for the more than 70 cats and dogs found on the property. Humane society representative Laura Poulin said people already have begun calling offering to adopt some of the animals. She suggests they go to the farm, pick out a healthy looking animal and bring it to a veterinarian for a "checkup before bringing it home. But Poulin said there are so many cats, many may have to be euthanized.

N.H. bans gay discrimination

CONCORD, N.H.--In a move that will protect the rights of homosexuals, New Hampshire has banned discrimination because of sexual orientation in job hiring, housing decisions and public accommodations. New Hampshire becomes the 11th state to offer civil rights protection to gays and lesbians. The bill, signed into law on Friday by Gov. Jeanne Shaheen, takes effect Jan. 1. A similar measure failed three years ago after strong opposition from the Catholic Church. The new measure includes a church-approved caveat that says the state does not approve of "any sexual lifestyle" other than the traditional marriage-based family. Under the bill, sexual orientation will be added to anti-discrimination protections based on age, sex, race, color, ethnic background, physical or mental disability, marital status, religious or political beliefs. Maine approved similar civil rights protections last month. Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Hawaii, California, New Jersey, Vermont and Minnesota also bar discrimination against gays.

From the Bethel Police log:

might affect his well.

Project engineer Steve Bushey of DeLuca Hoffman Associates, Inc., said air emissions and noise would be within state-required limits. He also said runoff would drain into one of several planned retention ponds. The site of the building itself would be built up with fill from the property.

Several people were skeptical the ponds could handle the water that accumulates in the area during the wet season. The site includes wetland areas.

"You have an island and a nice moat around it," said Bob Folsom of the site design.

Bushey said soils scientists and biologists had visited the property several times in the summer and fall seasons to identify the wetland areas. He also said the site is adequate for waste disposal from the facility.

Traffic was another worry for some Albany residents. Bushey said several hundred vehicles would arrive during the peak hour on Saturday morning. The plan calls for rebuilding the Old West Bethel Road, where the facility would be located.

A traffic control officer -- paid for by the tribe -- would be placed at the Route 5 intersection if needed, the developers said.

class." He urged his classmates to "look back without regrets, and look ahead with optimism and enthusiasm." And to parents, teachers and friends, Emerson said, "The last four years have been great. Thanks."

Third honors student Sarah Richardson said in her address that although the members of the class had at times differed widely in their opinions, "There is one thing we share that links us together, and that is our memories. It is important not to forget these four years we've spent at Telstar. They will always be a part of our lives."

Also speaking were class members Tim Adams and Rachel Stowell, who welcomed those attending; Jerry Bernier and Jessie Wight, who offered reflections on the past four years; and Stowell and Kelli Szente, who said farewell to the class. Nancy Trinward and Nancy Young, of the Telstar Alumni Association, offered congratulatory remarks.

School board chair Kelly Scotti advised: "choose wisely, don't be afraid to fail -- and have fun."

The burden of being principal

Scotti was joined by principal Ted Davis and superintendent Dr. Kent Webster in handing out diplomas.

In keeping with tradition, the graduates individually gave Davis a small item as he put the diplomas in their hands. This year, he received six dozen egg-shaped lead weights -- and was forced to unload his suitcase pockets halfway through the line of graduates.

Class members also donned sunglasses for their rendition of "Don't Stop" by Fleetwood Mac.

The Rev. Jane Rich, in closing the commencement exercises, told the graduates, "Fifty years from now, in the year 2047 -- when most of you will be 68 years old -- you will say to someone, 'I graduated 50 years ago.' And each year until then you will remember this important time in your life -- if not all the words that have been said here tonight."

"In another age, we would have given you a benediction. The word benediction, from the Latin, simply means to say good things about someone ... Class of 1997, we give you a blessing ... may the promise you have shown here at Telstar be brought to fulfillment by having productive lives. May you be blessed, and may you be a blessing to others. Go in peace and joy, doing good things in this adult world, upon which you are entering."

Rebels face St. Dom's at St. Joe's

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Telstar High School varsity baseball team faces St. Dom's High School tonight (Wednesday) for the Western Class C Championship.

The #3-ranked Rebels (12-4) earned the trip to the game -- to be played at St. Joseph's College in Standish -- by beating #2 Hall-Dale Saturday by a score of 6-1.

It was sweet revenge for the Rebels, who lost last year's semi-final game to the same team on the same field (in Hallowell), 5-0.

Telstar got help early in the game from Hall-Dale pitcher Scott Perkins, who walked seven batters and hit another. The Rebels scored four runs in the first two innings without getting a hit. Nate Whitworth hit a 340-foot double in the fourth inning.

Pitcher Wade Luxton threw a six-hitter to get the win, in only his second start this season. He had a shutout into the seventh, when a balk allowed a Hall-Dale baserunner to score from third. Telstar's defense was also excellent, with two double plays and no errors.

Tonight's game will see Myers on the mound for Telstar, coach Bob Remington said Tuesday. Remington expected to face #1 Falmouth, but it was St. Dom's that came out victorious in their game Saturday.

The Rebels have not played St. Dom's in about 10 years, said coach Bob Remington, so he does not know a lot about the team. "They have good pitching, and two or three good left-handed hitters," he said. "I expect a pretty equal matchup. They started out slow, but they've won their last eight out of nine games." St. Dom's has a record of 11-5.

Tonight's game starts at 7 p.m.

Season ends for girls

The Telstar varsity softball team didn't fare as well as the boys Saturday, losing 10-1 to #1-ranked Madison. The Rebels went into the game ranked #4.

They were able to manage only three hits off Madison pitcher Denelle Surman. Casey Brown, Sarah Richardson and Dani Littlehale each had singles.

The Lady Rebels ended the season with a record of 12-4.

NTL INSTITUTE

"Community Without Oppression: Leading in Learning from Experience ~ The Next 50 Years"

50th Anniversary Celebration and Learning Events for NTL Institute for Applied Behavioral Science

In 1947, NTL Institute began as an experiment, an experiment that took place in Bethel, Maine. Over the years, the town of Bethel and its citizens have played an integral role in creating an environment in which rich learning occurs, where people can grow and the world can change in positive ways.
As such, we invite you to contribute your knowledge and experience to the learning and celebration community on July 7-12, and are extending special registration rates to our Bethel friends for both events.

The Kurt Lewin Conference

"Lewin's Legacy/Lewin's Potential:
Next Steps for Group Process, Consultation and Social Justice"
July 7-9

Kurt Lewin has been called the originator of group dynamics and action-research.
His contributions to the beginnings of NTL Institute are vast; not the least of which his participation in the creation of a powerful method of adult learning, the T Group (T for training). The Kurt Lewin Conference will feature presentations by Lewinian scholars from the United States and abroad, examining the extensive influence of Lewinian theory and methodology on the field of applied behavioral science and NTL Institute within that field. In addition, experiential exercises, professional networking forums and learning team sessions will take place. The conference will concern itself not only with the legacy of Kurt Lewin's work, but with the application of that work in the future.

Bethel Citizen Rate: $195.00 (regularly $295.00)

The Great Gathering of All

An assembly to celebrate a momentous occasion, create new knowledge and establish a global network of values-based relationships.
July 10-12

The Great Gathering of All will look at the pivotal moments of our shared history that have brought us together and enhanced our lives. Using Appreciative Inquiry methodology, NTL member Cathy Royal will help us realize our best experiences and our most important lessons. NTL members, Elsie Cross and Charlie Seashore will co-chair a panel comprised of members, Vangie Holvino, Don Klein, Fred Miller and Jane Moosbrucker to look at significant learnings regarding individuals, groups, organizations and communities. Further, we will examine future scenarios to adapt what we have learned to ensure that we are effective in creating a better future for our world.

Bethel Citizen Rate: $97.47 (regularly $197.47)

To commemorate our 50th, we are also publishing an NTL Institute 50th Anniversary Remembrance Book, a collection of anecdotes and photographs capturing our rich history, including a Bethel section and many photographs from events in your town. The price of this publication is $24.95. If you are able to attend both events and would like to own a copy of the Remembrance Book, we are extending a package price of $275.00 to Bethel Citizens (regularly $450.00).

If you are unable to attend the learning programs, please at least join us for a
New England Lobster and Clambake
Friday, July 11th at the Founders' House.

The price for that event will be $25.00/person, and you may reserve a space by calling the Bethel Office at 824-2151. Fireworks will follow at 9:30 PM on the Bethel Inn golf course, and we hope everyone in town will be there to see the grand display!

To register, call NTL's Client Relations Center at (800) 777-5227 today.
We look forward to hearing from you and to seeing you in July!

Greenwood City

by Colista Morgan

The "City" was the scene of interest a couple of nights last week. A cow dealer left a few strange cows in the farm pasture where the feed was good. They were happy until the evening. Then about ten o'clock the people at the farm had a phone call saying, "I have a black and white cow in my yard."

That was on the opposite side of the pond on the Patch Mountain Road. The man at the farm had to call for help.

How does one catch a black cow on a very black night? But it had to be done, so two men prepared themselves and went out. Of course they were puzzled about how the cow got so far "over sea." They captured her without trouble and solved the puzzle. She swam the pond!

Over the many, many years that cows had been pastured there, none had swum the pond. This was a first.

She didn't object to the leading until she was hitched to the back of the truck. Then she rebelled and one of the men had to lead her home. He tied her up in the barn.

The old adage is, "The grass is greener on the other side of the fence." I wonder if Cow thought so? Not that one, but a couple of others tried but they took the Norway Road instead of the pond, but they went wading. They traveled down by my home, why they turned around and came back no one knows.

All now have been moved home to their dealer.

We learned later that two cows had been separated from their calves. That settled some of the episode.

Rena Curtis was visited by some of her grandchildren during the week.

David, Sally and Mary Holt visited at the Holts on Sunday.

Dot Betts and I were in Harrison on one day last week.

Ann Holt entertained several ladies at dinner one day, which we greatly enjoyed.

Darlene Dunn hosted a family barbecue on May 31 celebrating Everett Andrews' birthday of June 4 and Loretta's birthday of June 5. Present were: Everett, Loretta, Darlene and Gregg, Crystal, and Nicole, Everett and Althea Sawyer, Wayne and Cathy, Jennifer, Heidi, and Lori Andrews.

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 met at the grave of Melzor Brown at 6 p.m. on May 30 at the Hillside Cemetery in East Stoneham and held a short memorial service there. Six Daughters were there; also Andrew and Ryan Dean who held the flags and helped all around. One veteran, Ralph Brown and his wife Harriet were present, also.

On Monday, June 2, Frances Grant and 1 attended the graduation ceremony of the O.H.T.S. Allied Health C.N.A.'s, as our great-niece, Wendy Lord, was one of the graduates. There were 28 graduates, and they all looked very nice in their starched, white uniforms and caps. They worked hard for these certificates and we were proud of them all. There were scholarships and several awards given out.

Peter and Cindy Fox are the proud grandparents of a baby boy born to Melissa and Steven Evan. He was born on May 23 at the Conway, N.H., Hospital and weighed 9 pounds, 8 ounces, and his name is Mitchell Bradshaw Evan. Everyone is doing fine. Congratulations to the happy family.

Paul Taylor, Gladys Kilgore's nephew, is at present time in a nursing home recovering from a stroke. His home address is 214 Harris Road, Nashua, N.H. 03062-3708. I'm sure he would like to hear from his friends from this area.

A 25th anniversary party for Peter and Cindy Fox was held on May 31 at the St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Church, Main Street, Fryeburg, with over 80 people attending. This was organized by Melissa and Travis. It was also Carroll's birthday.

Carroll and Pat gave them a 25th anniversary plate that they had received on their 25th, and hopefully it will go to another generation. What a nice idea.

North Newry

by
Gil Seeley

Call to Worship was held Sunday morning, June 1 at 9 a.m. at the Newry Community Church, with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The Message of the Day was: "Right and Wrong," from 2 Cor. 4:2 -- "But have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God." There was communion after the message, and a birthday party for Kelsie Hanscom with cake and something to drink. She was eight years old on Saturday, the 7th. "Smile little Kelsie, God loves you."

Betsy Clark's sister, Susan Ritter of Loudon, N.H., spent a week recently with Betsy and Dick, went bowling with the Newry Bowling Gang and roamed around at some interesting places. They also celebrated their mother's birthday (Dot Dore) last week in New Hampshire.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley and Eleanor Davis went bowling at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford one day last week. On the overall scores Karlene was high on the triples and also on the singles with one string of 99. She had four spares and Gil had two spares.

The Windy Valleys Sno-Mobile Club met Tuesday night, June 1, at the "Hut" with 10 members present. President Owen Wight opened the meeting, and secretary Sylvia Harington read the notes of the last meeting and took new ones during the evening. She also read a letter from the Maine Sno-Mobile Association on promoting different programs to benefit the clubs. Treasurer Bob Lowell brought the finances up to date. And M.S.A. director/alternate Sylvia and Bill Wight reported on their 325th directors' meeting of May 20. Their next meeting will be July 19 at Saco Pathfinders Club House in Saco. On the unfinished business, it was mentioned that more signs should be made and posted on the trails, and more work made on the Hut. This night was supposed to be the last meeting of the season, but a vote was taken on having a meeting on July 1 and Aug. 5, and a possible Lawn Sale in October. The meeting adjourned and coffee, etc., was enjoyed and more talk, talk, talk.

Karlene showed us more pictures that were taken on their trip to California, one taken of Ras and Michelle and her with Mickey Mouse at Disney Land. Little Nickolaus got the chance to meet his favorite bear, Winnie the Pooh. While in California, Michelle tried out for "Jeopardy" -- don't know yet if she will appear. And to cap all that, on the way home they stopped at Seaport Bay to see the U.S.S. Ranger, the aircraft carrier that their son, Don Bachelder, was on in the early 1960s. There were many more pictures to remember that trip.

Retta Berry had a graduation party at her home Sunday, June 8, for her son, Jason Berry. Sixty friends and relatives attended for a great cookout. Ed and Mandy were a great help. Other seniors were Jessie Wight, Tony Buker, and Brian Enman.

A 16th birthday party for Staci Littlehale was held Sunday evening at the home of her mother, Terri Littlehale. Family and friends attended. Happy Birthday, Staci, on June 9.

Good day! It's been absolutely gorgeous in Upton with sunny, hot days in the 70s and 80s and cool nights. The roads in Upton are receiving new culverts.

School for SAD44 is out for the summer on the 12th. Hope everybody has a safe and happy summer. Please watch for kids out playing. Like Upton, some towns don't have sidewalks and children ride bikes in the street.

Last week, a name was misprinted in my column. The correct spelling was Grondin, not Carondin. Bass fishing has been outstanding

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

I've been spring cleaning even though summer is almost here. I'm having a household goods sale Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 13, 14, and 15 at the Union Church, Andrews Corner, South Woodstock. There are many, many items of every variety. I'll be open from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Just come to visit if you want.

Happy 16th birthday wishes to Staci Littlehale.

The crabapple tree is finally just about in full bloom. We'll probably get rain soon and take the blossoms away. It happens every year.

Tim Poland had an accident at the house he was working on last week. He was taken to the hospital and will be pretty sore for a while but will be basically o.k.

June happens to be one of the busiest months if there are students involved. There are dance recitals, concerts, plays, and the big one -- Graduation. I am so proud of the 70-something graduates of Telstar Regional High School. I believe all seniors who started in the fall hung in there and made the grades to finish and graduate. My daughter, Eva, smiled with self-satisfaction as did her mates as they stepped upon the platform to receive their diplomas. Well done, I say to these brave souls who now venture forward from their comfortable (I hope) nests to seek their fame and fortune in the world.

I often compare our lives to those of the wilder creatures living in our midst. Do other creatures send their offspring off to learn from others about survival? How does the yearling moose stay healthy and safe when his mother drops a new calf and then pushes him away? When I see a red fox mother playing with her children, I wonder if I played enough with my own. The basic principles of behavior seem the same -- children watch and learn from their parents and other adults and mimic the model set forth before them. We can yell and plead and pray but it seems the role modeling we set for our young becomes imprinted upon their cerebellum and that is what they know. We are fortunate who have lived with healthy surroundings and mentors to learn our lessons from. Congratulations to Eva and all the others who graduated this spring. If you believe strongly enough about something and dare risk your time and sweat to get it, you should be rewarded with a successful life.

West Paris

A smaller-than-usual number of campers were at Cathedral Pines in Stratton/Eustis during Memorial weekend. Those from here were Charmain and Albert Penley, Jr., Doug Penley and friend Chad Chase, Vince and Beverly Stevens, Walter and Kim Inman, Vernon and Walter Jr. and Vern and Miriam Inman. Also from nearby were Norman and Jean Millett, Sayward and Cynthia Lamb and Byron and Mary Inman, Vance and Connie Bacon visited Saturday and Sunday and spent the night in a Stratton motel. Plenty of moose were seen. The weather wasn't too good, mostly cloudy and quite chilly and some rain. But it could have been worse.

It could have snowed!

Twelve West Paris Senior Citizens met for a potluck dinner at the Historical Building, followed by a meeting. Members then went upstairs to the museum to look at the memorabilia.

On Thursday, my cousin, Helvi Smith, two of her relatives from Finland and Aino Starbird stopped by to see me while we were working on crafts at the church Goodwill Hall. We had a nice visit.

The Forward Fellowship will have a Cookie Walk at the Wal-Mart store on Saturday, June 14, from 9 a.m. to noon. Cookies should be at church by 8:30 a.m.

Mollycokett Sportsman's Snowmobile Club is sponsoring an auction on Saturday, June 14, at the yard of Emery's Building Supply at Trap Corner, beginning at 1 p.m. Viewing will be 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Lettie Brooks is a patient at C.M.M.C. where she is feeling better. She expects to be transferred to Maine Med on Sunday to have surgery on Tuesday.

GREENWOOD HISTORICAL

Nineteen members and two guests met at the building on June 4 for the regular meeting.

The meeting was presided by vice president E. Lee Mills due to the absence of the president, Ivan Morey.

It was decided at this meeting that Saturday, July 19, would be the date of the Open House for July. Blaine and Margaret Mills will be present that day. The building will be open from 1 to 4 p.m.

At the July meeting a date will be set for the Open House in August.

It was suggested that some cleaning be done at the building, and it was voted that those who can help, come to the next meeting an hour earlier.

As there was no more business, the meeting was adjourned and Fred Burk gave a very interesting demonstration on making cart wheels. Refreshments were furnished by Mary Mills and served by her son, Blaine. Joyce Hathaway volunteered to furnish refreshments for the July meeting.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

A lively and often humorous slide lecture by Mike Hathaway on his family's 30-year involvement with the Bryant Pond Telephone Company was the featured topic at the June monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Hathaway described how his father acquired the company, the challenges he faced through the years in keeping the company going, and the situations faced in living with the switchboard in the family living room. The latter situation provided the title for Hathaway's recent book on the company, "Everything Happened Around the Switchboard." He detailed the attention that came to the company once it was discovered by the media and the reasons why his family had to face sale of the last crank phone system in the United States.

During the business portion of the meeting, president Walter Hatch announced that the next meeting would be the society's annual picnic. It will be held at the NTL headquarters at the end of Broad Street on July 3. The program will feature an oral history night in honor of the organization's 50 years in Bethel. Those attending are asked to bring a picnic lunch and the society will provide a beverage. The "Artifact of the Month" was announced as an antique doll, the gift of Mary Morin of Newry. A moment of silence was observed for long-time member Norris Brown. Those attending were urged to look over the entries to the recent Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show, which emphasized the topic "Indians of the Androscoggin River Valley" this year.

Rotary Golf Challenge

The Bethel Rotary Golf Challenge is scheduled for Monday, June 16, 1 p.m. at the Bethel Inn & Country Club. Sponsored by Northeast Bank and Viking Motors, the 18-hole scramble is open to everyone. Proceeds will benefit the Bethel Rotary Club.

Teams will compete for thousands of dollars in prizes, including a 1997 Buick Regal for the first player to ace the 165-yard par three #6 hole.

Individuals interested in participating may contact tournament chairpersons Allen Connors or Kevin Finley at the Bethel Inn Pro Shop by calling 824-6276.

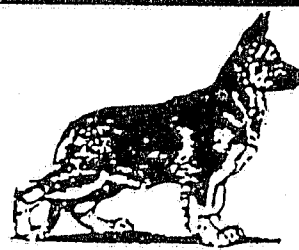

Players may sign up as individuals or teams of four. Sponsorships are also available.

Last season's event raised nearly $2,500 and proved to be one of the Rotary's most successful fundraisers. This year's goal is to raise $4,000.

HOLIDAY HOUSE RECOGNIZED

The Holiday House in Bethel was selected as an Editors' Pick for the 1997 edition of the Yankee Magazine Travel Guide to New England. The selection gives the bed and breakfast the billing of being "one of the outstanding reasons to visit New England."

WE HELP YOU JUGGLE

Today, many adults have to be in two places at once, fulfilling commitments to work and family. Then, someone gets sick. Mountain Health Services has extended our office hours into late afternoons to help patients schedule appointments for care at convenient hours.

All of our healthcare providers select certain days each month to be available for late afternoon appointments. This ensures your appointment with your primary care provider. For emergencies or same-day appointments we arrange for you to see the first available provider if your primary care provider is not available.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Due to the Bethel Town Meeting, the Bethel Planning Board meeting regularly scheduled for June 11, 1997 will be RESCHEDULED TO Thursday, June 12, 1997.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE

Pursuant to 14 M.R.S.A., Section 6323

WHEREAS, on February 26, 1997 a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale was entered in the Maine District Court, Division of Southern Oxford, in an action by Franklin Savings Bank against Dennis R. Swan, Sandra Swan and against an additional party as a Party-in-Interest for the foreclosure of a certain mortgage deed dated September 15, 1976 recorded at Book 912, Page 259, Oxford Registry of Deeds, the ninety-day redemption period having elapsed without redemption, notice is hereby given that there will be sold at public sale held at the offices of Donald K. Cummings, Franklin Savings Bank, 155 Congress Street, Rumford, Maine on July 9, 1997 at 2:00 p.m., all and singular the premises described in said mortgage they being in Locke Mills Village, Town of Greenwood, Oxford County, State of Maine, bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

A certain lot or parcel of land, together with the buildings thereon, situated in the Town of Greenwood, in Locke Mills Village, and bounded as follows: Northwest by land now or formerly of Donald Tebbets; southwesterly by the main road leading through Locke Mills Village; southeasterly by land formerly of Walter B. Rand, being the so-called store lot; northeasterly by land formerly of E.L. Tebbets Spool Co.

Also, the water and spring rights as set forth in a deed from Bertha May Davis to Horace E. Fiske, dated August 3, 1932, and recorded in the Oxford County Registry of Deeds on August 6, 1932, in Book 401, Page 430, to which deed reference is hereby made for a more particular description thereof.

Being the same property conveyed to Dennis R. Swan and Sandra Swan by Stanley P. Wilson and Barbara Wilson by their joint tenancy warranty deed dated September 15, 1976.

The sale shall be subject to any condition which a title search would reveal, any unpaid taxes or assessments, and any facts which an accurate survey of the premises might show. The sale shall also be subject to any condition which any examination or inspection including any engineering or environmental testing of the premises might reveal, condition of the premises to be "AS IS" with no warranties regarding the condition permitted under value of the premises.

Franklin Savings Bank will sell the above-described premises to the highest bidder subject to the foregoing conditions and limitations at said public sale and shall deliver a quiet claim deed to the purchaser free and clear of all interest of said Defendants.

Further terms of sale are as follows:

1) As a qualification to bid each prospective bidder shall be required to submit a bank or certified check payable to Franklin Savings Bank in the amount of $2,500.00, which will be returned if the bidder is unsuccessful, and which amount will be retained as a deposit upon the purchase price from the successful bidder; the balance due on the purchase price shall be cash or by certified or cashier's check within forty-five (45) days after the time of sale on July 9, 1997 and if the purchaser fails to make payment of said balance due in said manner within forty-five (45) days after July 9, 1997 Franklin Savings Bank reserves the right to sell the premises to the next highest bidder and the highest bidder shall forfeit the $2,500.00 deposit. The purchaser shall be required to sign a Memorandum of Purchase at the time of sale and will pay all transfer taxes.

2) Franklin Savings Bank, foreclosing mortgagee, may bid any or all of the amount due to it under the Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale dated February 26, 1997 in lieu of any cash payment.

Further inquiries may be directed to Donald K. Cummings, Franklin Savings Bank, 1-207-364-7866 or to Paul H. Mills, Esq., 207-778-3521.

Dated this 30th day of May, 1997.

No chimney? No problem.

Here's a gas water heater with a built-in solution to chimney problems. John Wood has developed one which vents outside the house.

This innovative, power vent water heater is designed around a failsafe control system to protect homeowners from any potential hazards. With a non-hazardous 24-volt control, completely enclosed wires, and a termination device that will not freeze shut or stick open, it's built for safety.

So don't let the lack of a chimney keep you out in the cold. Talk to us about the John Wood power vent gas water heater.

He married the former Alice Doughty on Aug. 16, 1941, who survives him.

Mr. Theriault enjoyed hunting, fishing, and for the past four years was the dam-keeper for Robert Shorey at the Abbott Mills hydro dam near his home, where his dog was his constant companion.

Besides his wife of 55 years, he is survived by two daughters, Betty Blaisdell and special companion Roland Roy, both of Leeds, and Susan Rosenberg and husband Timothy of Bryant Pond; two sons, Robert and his wife Sandra of Rumford Corner and Paul and his wife Marilyn of Taberg, N.Y.; 11 grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.
